More School Equals More Income -- NEA

Education is a very worthwhile investment, according to a survey cited at the Torrance Board of Education meeting Tuesday.

The board studied an NEA survey which indicated that the greater number of years of education a student gets, the more money he will make and the less likely he is to become unemployed. Findings, reported in an NEA research bulletin, showed:

The average man with eight or less years of school earned $3214 in 1959. Only six per cent were earning more than $10,000 a year and 8.5 per cent were unemployed.

The average male high school graduate earned $4548 in 1959 and only 10 per cent earned more than $10,000 a year. Some 4.8 per cent were unemployed.

The average man with four years of college earned $6374 in 1959 and 32 per cent earned more than $10,000 a year. Only 2.4 per cent were unemployed.

Persons with five or more years of college earned $6926 during 1959 on the average, although figures in other categories were not available.
